

Freemasonry is Topic of Tuesday Talk at SWOSU

04.25.2008

The History and Symbolism of Freemasonry is the topic of an upcoming meeting on Tuesday, April 29, on the Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford.

The talk by Dr. Jim Tresner will be at 6 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Auditorium on the SWOSU campus. Admission is free, and the public is invited. SWOSU's Student Government Association is sponsor.

Tresner will speak about the history and symbolism of Freemasonry. He has written books about the subject, according to Josh Buxton, vice president of SGA. He will talk to anyone who is interested in Masonry and what it means today.

For more information, contact Buxton at (405) 606-580.
